EXPERTISE

- Employment law
- Mediation/alternative dispute resolution

Marino Loy advises principals and contractors on all questions of contract drafting and contract management, including contract termination, in individual as well as in collective employment law. In the event of litigious disputes, he represents the client either in Court or out of Court.

A further key practice area is the employment law support for restructurings, company purchases and business transfers. Furthermore, Marino Loy advises on general civil law issues. On account of his many years' experience as an appeal lawyer, he often takes on the judicial process management.
